HAROLD DYAR NIGHT ML SALOON

SOMEWHERE ALONG THE EMIGRANT TRAIL

Patrons of the arts, along with trail tramps, saddle bums and lovely ladies whose interests lie in the realm of cultural activities, will gather Friday night (the specific Friday night that is March 5) at the Mountain Lion saloon to assist one Harold Dyar in his efforts to leave Porterville after nine years of association with The Farm Tribune.

Dyar is heading south down the Emigrant trail, expecting to stop at his home of Delano where he will open a most unlikely business dedicated to the principle that ice cream should be made available (for a fee) to one and all.

The Friday night MLS session will involve philosophical discussion of philosophical subjects, also the interpretation of Bach and Brahms by certain

How To Control Cattle Rustlers Seminar Subject

VISALIA - Back in the old days one approach to control of cattle rustlers was a rope and a tree limb, but modern approach involves a number of scientific methods, plus work by police and by livestock owners themselves - methods that will be discussed in a Cattle Theft seminar, under direction of Sheriff Bob Wiley, that will be held Monday, March 8, in Room 305, science lecture hall, College of the Sequoias, 2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Wiley says that a limited number of reservations are still available and that pre-registration is required with Sgt. Gary Kunch, of the Sheriff's Department Training bureau,

SO, WHAT'S THE FUTURE NOW FOR MINERAL KING DEVELOPMENT?

PORTERVILLE - Back in 1965 when six proposals for development of Mineral King were considered by the Forest Service and displays and plans were presented at the Sequoia Forest headquarters in Porterville, there was great public interest concerning a development plan - most of that interest, locally, favoring development.

And when Walt Disney was selected to handle the development, there was a surge of new interest in the county as the economic impact of the project was emphasized and the advantages to the general public resulting from development of Mineral King was pointed out by valley news media and chambers of commerce.

When, after three years of intensive field study and planning, Disney submitted a proposed master development plan for Mineral King that was approved by the Forest Service, general opinion was that "the show was on the road."

Then came the Sierra club. This organization objected to the development plan in a suit filed in 1969, then after the U.S. Supreme Court "reviewed the issue of standing" in 1972, the Sierra club amended its complaint and the action was returned to the Federal District court in San Francisco, where it is still pending and where it is expected hearings will be held in the near future.

Until, and if, this litigation is resolved in favor of the Federal government, no development can take place at Mineral King.

In an effort to answer objections to the project, the Forest Service last Thursday announced at a press conference in Los Angeles that Mineral King Final Environmental Statement has been filed with the Council on Environmental Quality, dealing with recreational development in the Mineral King area of the Sequoia National forest.

So, what happens now? Only time will tell, but on the basis of past records, the Sierra club will likely continue its legal manipulations that have stalled the Mineral King project for the

Goat Raising Is New Project For Pleasant View 4-H Members

By Nan Faure

PLEASANT VIEW - As a completely new experience, Pleasant View 4-H club members are taking on, as a Community Service Project, the raising of eight goats for Heifer Project International.

Heifer Project depends on voluntary contributions from individuals, churches of all faiths, service clubs, farm organizations, foundations, youth groups, schools and colleges.

The kids will be 'housed' at the ranch home of the Santry's, and since they are very young, will be fed on a bottle, or possibly pan fed, starting with a cup and one-half of milk twice a day, for a week.

Milk may then be discontinued providing grain is fed from the first week until end of four months. At all times plenty of good alfalfa hay is needed, plus a block of salt.

The baby goats were delivered Sunday by West Coast Heifer Project representative, Rev. Bill E. Deck, director of the Modesto office, and distributed to Club members by Harold Weisenberger, local acting chairman.

The kids will be cared for by Pleasant View 4-H club until October 16, at which time they will be delivered to Pleasanton, for display at a Heifer International fair. Eventually they will be sent to foreign countries.

RAISING OF eight goats for shipment to a foreign country has been taken as a community service project by members of the Pleasant View 4-H club, with photo showing, from left: Harold Weisenberger, acting local chairman of Heifer Project International, the organization through which the goats are handled; Bill Beck, west coast director of the project; Tim Santry, Pleasant View 4-H president; and Marlan Santry, the club's community service representative.

CINCO de MAYO CANDIDATES TO APPEAR AT DINNER, SATURDAY

PORTERVILLE - Candidates for queen of Porterville's 1976 Cinco de Mayo celebration will be introduced, and a menu of Pipian En Mole with chicken, beans, and rice served, at a benefit dinner Saturday night in the Monache Campus Center, starting at 6 p.m.

Sponsored by Commission Honorifica, the dinner will raise money for the Porterville High School Panther band's Spirit of '76 fund which will be used by the band on its July trip to Philadelphia.

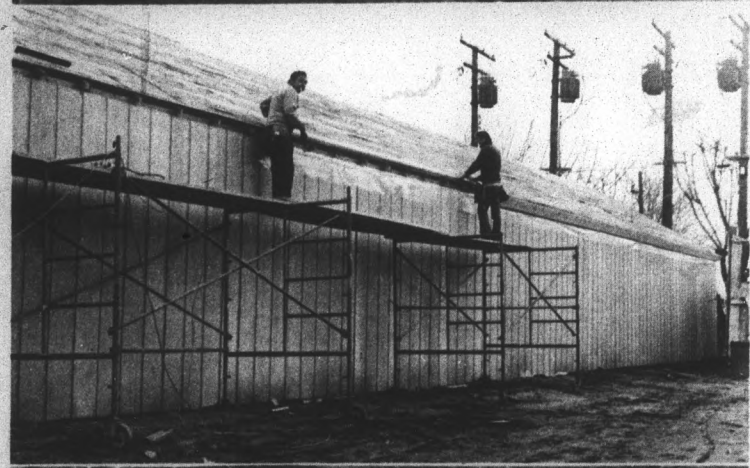

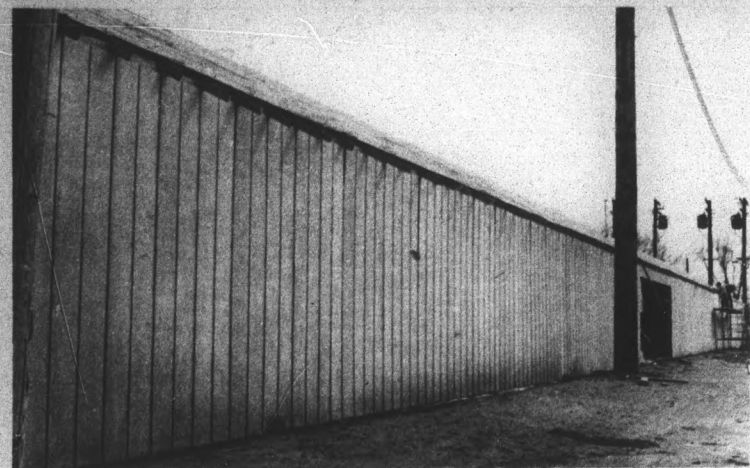

Entertainment during the evening will be provided by the Fabulous Studio band from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m.; and the Ballet Ozomatli, from Porterville high, will perform a series of Mexico folk dances between 8 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Preparing the dinner will be Concho Ramirez; tickets, at $2.50, are available at Presidio Savings & Loan, Wayne's Music Mart, Meade's Music, and the Porterville High School office, and may also be obtained at the door Saturday night.

Real progress is being made on renovation of the Porterville fair grounds - as indicated by photos, inside and out, of the fair's commercial exhibit building, and when the fair opens May 20, people of southeastern Tulare county will be proud of the facility that they have - a facility that will certainly not be totally completed but will be ready to go for the '76 fair.

The Porterville fair is unique in that it is legally operated under a trusteeship in which directors serve without pay and in which all funds involved must be used for development of the fair and for benefit of junior exhibitors - Future Farmers and 4-H members.

Through the years many individuals and many organizations have contributed time and money to the fair; it is truly a community project that brings together "city slickers" and their "country cousins" for enjoyable efforts that benefit young people.

Last December fair directors embarked on a major project of renovation and construction on the fair grounds. Many contributions of work and money have already been received - fair directors would be happy to accept more - in fact, they need more - and donations are tax deductible.

Actually work on the fair grounds is aimed at more than just a once-a-year fair. When completed the facility will be available and will be suitable for a number of activities, such things as livestock sales (two of major importance are now in the talking stage); the fleamart type of project that the American Field Service has done twice on a limited basis; business and industry meetings where display area is needed; camper and trailer organizations gatherings that involve parking area and display space; and outdoor-type meetings of any type of organization during the summer months where a nice area with concession facilities is needed.

In total, the Porterville fair will offer a facility that most certainly will be used by a number of other organizations throughout the year. Work underway now is pointed toward this goal.

If American farmers produced only for Americans, half the farmers would go out of business because there would be no markets for what they produced.

The Pony Express, a privately-run mail service that lasted 18 months, charged five dollars to deliver a letter weighing half an ounce.

ANOTHER DONATION for the Porterville fair, this one in the form of work and equipment. The truck was donated by Tony

Landeros, with Len Landeros driving, to haul away debris from the fair grounds as renovation and construction

past eight years. However, somewhere along the line there may be a final yes-or-no conclusion to Mineral King development.

Changes proposed in the new Mineral King Final Environmental statement include dropping plans for a cog railroad into Mineral King in favor of a two-lane road utilizing about 60 per cent of the existing right-of-way and with a 35 miles-per-hour speed limit; transportation into Mineral King valley would be by electric bus.

The environmental statement also calls for a year-round recreational complex capable of handling 6,000 people at one time in the summer and 8,000 people at one time in winter.

This represents a 20 per cent reduction in winter and a 40 per cent reduction in summer as proposed in the 1974 plan.

The new proposal calls for skiing and other winter sports recreation activities in the winter; camping, fishing, hiking and horseback riding, plus other activities, in the summer.

Skiing facilities would be developed on the south side of the valley where there are eight cirques (deep-walled basins) that provide excellent ski terrain, with access to these areas by 18 ski lifts.

Development of six campgrounds, with 106 units, is proposed at various locations throughout Mineral King valley; these campgrounds could handle 625 summer visitors. An additional 25 miles of trails would bring the total trail network to 64 miles.

Support facilities would be based at three locations: Mineral King Village, Faculty Flat, and Silver City, where a variety of lodging accommodations would be provided.

Other facilities would include restaurants, shops, swimming pools, skating rinks, environmental education center, equestrian center, emergency aid facilities and picnic areas.

A summary of the Final Environmental statement is available at the Sequoia National Forest headquarters, 900 W. Grand Ave., Porterville, 93257.

COURSE ON HUNTINGTON LIBRARY OFFERED AT PORTERVILLE COLLEGE

PORTERVILLE - Porterville College will offer a special study/travel course on the famed Huntington Library, beginning Tuesday, March 9.

Taught by Language Arts Chairman Emily McCain, the class will be given Tuesdays from 5 to 6:45 p.m. through March 30 in the Forum. It will also involve a bus trip to the library at San Marino on Saturday, April 3.

During the sessions at the college, lectures will be given on the background of the Huntingtons, on the family's extensive art collection, on the library's surrounding 250-acre botanical gardens and on the library itself.

The actual visit to the library will allow students to examine first hand the Huntington's precious collection of first edition books and manuscripts, including "The Gutenberg Bible;" the family's seven principal and 15 smaller art galleries with well known paintings by Gainsborough, Lawrence and Reynolds; and the beautiful Japanese, desert rose, herb and Shakespeare gardens.

Persons desiring additional information should contact the PC Registrar's office.

Gourmet Foods For Low Income Family Budgets

LOS ANGELES - Can middle and lower income families still afford to eat gourmet dinners in this age of rapidly accelerating food prices?

The surprising answer in Miriam Ungerer's book "Good Cheap Food" is an emphatic "yes!"

Ms. Ungerer's work, which includes such elegant and inexpensive dishes as Veal Marengo, Salmon Mousse and Eggs Florentine, is available free at all offices of California Federal Savings and Loan Association statewide.

Loren Schmid, vice president and manager of the Porterville branch office of California Federal, said that "these valuable books tell over 200 ways to feed your family fancy meals at budget prices." He said supplies of the books are limited and may not last long because "the books are a great way to help people save on their food costs."

The Porterville office of California Federal is located at 185 North "D" Street in Porterville.

California Federal is the nation's largest federally-chartered savings and loan association, with 67 offices statewide and over $3.5 billion in assets.

Featured speakers will be O.W. Hooten and Del Pedro, of the Bureau of Livestock Identification, who will discuss cattle theft prevention methods, investigation techniques, breeds, brands, and earmarks.

Chris White, of the Tulare County District Attorney's office, will discuss legal aspects of cattle theft investigation. Sheriff Wiley will welcome participants and introduce the program.

The seminar had originally been scheduled in the County Agricultural building, but was moved to the science lecture hall on the COS campus to accommodate more participants.

JUDGE THOMPSON ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY TO RETAIN PORTERVILLE COURT SEAT; ELECTION COMING UP NEXT JUNE 8

PORTERVILLE - Judge Richard Thompson has officially announced his candidacy to retain his seat as judge of the Porterville Municipal Judicial District court; the election is coming up June 8.

In announcing his candidacy for reelection, Judge Thompson said that during the past year approximately 2,500 misdemeanor and felony cases have been handled by the court, in addition to an average of 450 traffic matters and 50 civil cases per month.

He said that "growing pains" encountered during the first 15 months of operation by the new Porterville Municipal court resulted in some problems, but that with a new courthouse facility completed, with personnel problems smoothing out, and with adjustments being made in relationship between various agencies in Visalia involved in Porterville Municipal court cases, efficiency of total court operation is constantly improving.

Judge Thompson says that he will continue to "utilize every effort to administer justice independently, fairly and equitably."

He states that "all judicial matters will be handled in open court, before the public; all plea and charge negotiations will be made without court participation, and acceptance or rejection will be made in open court; there will be no judicial proceedings heard in chambers."

Thompson, who has served as judge of the Porterville Municipal court since its formation, is a graduate of Stanford Law school. Prior to that he served as judge of the Lindsay Justice court for 18 months.

He has been a practicing attorney in southeastern Tulare county for 26 years and served for more than 15 years as city attorney in Lindsay.

He was a member of the Lindsay-Strathmore Memorial District board for 20 years; he is a veteran of World War II, serving as a Naval Aviation pilot; in his community activities, he is a member of the Masonic lodge, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, the Kiwanis club, the Presbyterian church, and the Porterville College Buccaneers.

Professionally, he is a member of the California and American Bar association and the American Judicature society.

Judge Thompson, and his wife, Kathleen, have three children - a married son, a married daughter, and a daughter attending law school in San Diego.

ISSUES FACING CONTEMPORARY WOMEN BEING EXPLORED IN COLLEGE COURSE

PORTERVILLE — Porterville College is offering a special course that started last night exploring the issues facing contemporary women.

Titled Women's Studies I, the class will be given Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m. through May 12 in the Student Union Lounge.
